

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

EASTERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY™

2025-2026

GRADUATE ASSISTANT
HANDBOOK

Eastern Illinois University Graduate School
Handbook of Regulations and Policies
Governing Graduate Assistantships

Table of Contents

Academic Requirements.....7

Assigned Duty Requirements7

Eligibility Criteria3

Enrollment Requirements7

Financial Aid..... 10

Graduate School Contact Information3

Guidelines for a Successful Appointment 14

Professional Conduct & Internal Governing Policies9

Laws and Regulations.....6

Obligations4

Orientation5

Payroll Process.....11

Assistantship Categories.....6

Ethics Training9

Resigning an Assistantship10

Stipends11

Student Health Insurance.....11

Supplemental Contracts.....12

Termination Policy10

Tuition Waiver Scholarship.....10

The Mission of Eastern Illinois University

Eastern Illinois University is a public comprehensive university that offers superior, accessible undergraduate and graduate education. Students learn the methods and results of free and rigorous inquiry in the arts, humanities, sciences, and professions, guided by a faculty known for its excellence in teaching, research, creative activity, and service. The University community is committed to diversity and inclusion and fosters opportunities for student-faculty scholarship and applied learning experiences within a student-centered campus culture. Throughout their education, students refine their abilities to reason and to communicate clearly so as to become responsible citizens and leaders.

The Mission of Graduate Education

The mission of graduate education at Eastern Illinois University is to provide superior graduate degree, certificate, and post-baccalaureate options designed for career specialization and advancement, certification and credentialing, professional and leadership development, and preparation for advanced scholarship. The mission includes:

- strengthening the quality, diversity, and internationalization of the University's student body by attracting candidates who have the potential for academic and professional achievement;
- fostering advanced scholarship through a depth of content knowledge, critical thinking, problem solving, oral and written communication, application of technology, research/creative activity, and commitment to professional ethics;
- expanding the curriculum with rigorous advanced courses and options offered through lectures, laboratories, seminars, forums, practicum field experiences, internships, and partnerships with education, business, and industry;
- building and enhancing the excellence of the University's undergraduate majors and options through mutual and reciprocal research/creative activity with graduate students and faculty; and,
- developing opportunities for the discovery and application of knowledge with graduate faculty members who reflect the University's teaching and mentoring priority and who have a record of research/creative activity and professional service.

The Mission of Graduate Assistantships

Graduate Assistantships provide financial support to make graduate education accessible to competitive well-qualified graduate candidates who seek Eastern's graduate programs. Assistantships provide superior graduate education through teaching, research, and applied learning experiences that advance Eastern's teaching, research, and service mission.

Graduate School Contacts

Comprehensive information regarding assistantships (including application, regulations, and important deadlines) is posted at: www.eiu.edu/graduate/students_assistantships.php. Applicants are advised to review the information at the web site as their first source of information regarding assistantships. Inquiries may also be directed by phone at 217-581-2220 or to EIU Graduate School, 600 Lincoln Avenue, Charleston, IL 61920-3099

Graduate Assistantship Manager

The Graduate Assistantship Manager is the first contact for graduate assistant applicants or candidates who have questions regarding regulations or policies that govern graduate assistantships. The Manager is also an appropriate contact to assist with resolution of concerns regarding assistantship eligibility or execution of duties. The Manager can be reached by contacting the Graduate School.

Applications and Initial Eligibility

An online application is available at the Graduate School web site or through the MyEIU application process. Completed applications for an academic year should be submitted by February 15 to the program of interest. Programs may establish other deadlines; therefore, students interested in assistantships should contact individual programs for specific details. Applicants interested in spring or summer appointments should contact the sponsoring unit or the Graduate Assistantship Manager.

Applicants may meet initial assistantship eligibility criteria in two ways. The first way to meet the criteria is to provide evidence of having earned a cumulative undergraduate grade point average (GPA) of 2.75 (4.00 scale) on the graded academic course work from the degree-granting institution and have been fully admitted to a graduate degree program. The second way to meet criteria is to provide evidence of having earned a cumulative undergraduate GPA of 2.75 (4.00 scale) on the last 60 semester hours of graded academic course work from the degree granting institution and have been fully admitted to a graduate degree program. Provisional admission does not qualify as full admission, therefore provisional candidates are not eligible. These requirements may not be waived or appealed.

Applicants who do not meet either of the two initial eligibility criteria, may reapply for an assistantship after they complete nine semester hours of graduate course work (courses numbered 4750 or higher) and earn a graduate GPA of 3.00 or higher and are fully admitted to a degree program. Note that applicants who were admitted as provisional graduate candidates must complete 12 semester hours of graduate course work while earning and maintaining a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher and must also complete all of the provisions required by the program to be a fully-admitted degree candidate. Graduate-degree candidacy is a requirement for assistantship eligibility. Note that sponsoring units, particularly academic units, may require additional criteria for eligibility.

Sponsoring Unit

Graduate assistants provide teaching, research or service to the sponsoring unit. A majority of assistants are appointed to the department or school in which a degree program is offered; however many sponsoring units are campus centers or offices that do not offer degree programs. Agencies external to the university, in collaboration with academic programs, may also offer graduate assistantships with approval from the Graduate School Dean. Assistants are responsible for satisfactorily performing the duties required of the sponsoring unit.

Signed Contract Obligations

The signed contract is in effect at the time it is received by the Graduate School and completes an agreement between the candidate and the Graduate School that both are expected to honor. An applicant's signature on the contract indicates that the applicant has read, understands, and accepts the terms of the award.

The signed contract obligates the candidate to initiate the duties specified in the contract for the time and at the stipend rate specified. Dates for reporting for duty are specified in the contract and vary by the sponsoring unit.

Assistants who are unable to fulfill the obligations specified in the contract or who fail to report for duty as specified in the contract may be subject to pro-rated loss of the stipend or other sanctions as determined by the sponsoring unit and the Graduate School for the days of service that are not fulfilled.

Graduate assistants may not hold any other contracts for any other employment on campus while working as an assistant, unless approved for a supplemental contract by the Graduate School Dean.

The signed contract obligates the candidate to follow standard guidelines for professional courtesy when withdrawing from the contract. Assistants who accept an offer by returning a signed contract to the Graduate School and who subsequently wish to withdraw the contract, must submit a written letter of resignation to the sponsoring unit and the Graduate School and request a minimum of 30 days notice.

National Council of Graduate Schools

Eastern Illinois University is a member of the national Council of Graduate Schools (CGS) and has adopted the guidelines for accepting offers of financial support developed by the Council. The guidelines indicate that acceptance of an offer of financial support for the next academic year by a prospective or enrolled graduate student completes an agreement that both the student and graduate school expect to honor. Students are under no obligation to respond to offers of financial support prior to April 15. In those instances in which a student accepts an offer before April 15, and subsequently desires to withdraw that acceptance, the student may submit in writing a resignation of the appointment at any time through April 15. However, an acceptance given or left in force after April 15 commits the student not to accept another offer without first obtaining a written release from the institution to which a commitment has been made. Similarly, an offer by an institution after April 15 is conditional on presentation by the student of the written release from any previously accepted.

Mandatory Orientation

All graduate assistants are required to complete the on-line Graduate School Orientation Program offered through D2L. Candidates will receive written notification and instructions regarding the orientation process.

Sponsoring units may require that assistants attend orientation sessions specific to the unit. Assistants are advised to contact sponsoring units to determine if an orientation is scheduled and are urged to attend these sessions.

Mandatory Identification for Domestic Assistantship Appointments

The Federal Immigration Control Act of 1986 requires certain statements and/or documentation to verify that graduate assistants are eligible under federal law to hold appointments as offered by an assistantship contract. Failure to provide such statements or appropriate documentation, if requested, invalidates a signed contract. Candidates holding assistantships will be notified of the documentation verification process used to meet University employment regulations. The process requires that candidates provide legible copies of two forms of identification. Acceptable forms of identification include a valid driver's license, social security card, birth certificate, valid passport, or other federal or state issued forms of identification. Failure to provide the required identification will delay the processes required to provide the stipend and tuition waiver, so it is essential that candidates comply with identification requirements.

Mandatory Regulations for International Students Assistantship Appointments

International students holding assistantships are required to provide the following forms of identification during the mandatory Orientation: I-94, I-20 and a valid passport with an F-1 or J-1 visa to complete the I-9 form.

International students must provide evidence of an I-9 once each calendar year that an appointment is held. In addition, international students must provide evidence of an I-9 with each appointment. Assistance to secure social security numbers for international students is provided during the International Student Orientation. International students who require support for obtaining a social security number must contact the Office of International Students and Scholars.

Laws Governing Appointments for All Students

Public Act 85-827 requires assistantship recipients to complete a form regarding previous loans made from, or guaranteed by, state or federal funds for the purpose of financing attendance at an institution of higher education. Failure to complete this form will invalidate the signed contract.

Assistants act as agents of the University when they perform their assistantship duties. Their responsibilities may include submission of incident reports and other written communications that may fall within the definition of student records. The University may use such reports and communications and may disseminate these to various people or organizations. The signature on the contract authorizes the University to make appropriate use of reports or communications completed by the assistant as may be deemed necessary.

Assistantship Categories

Eastern Illinois University offers the following assistantships:

- A Standard Assistantship is offered by a sponsoring unit at Eastern Illinois University. Assistants in this category may have primary duties in support of teaching, research, or service.
- An Agency Assistantship is funded by an agency or grant in collaboration with an academic program and focuses on service to the agency.
- A Fellowship is offered through the Eastern Illinois University Foundation. Fellowship responsibilities are specified in the Fellowship contract.
- A Summer Research Assistantship is a specialized appointment focusing on support for the research mission of the university.

Contract Term and Length of Appointment

Assistantship contracts may be for an academic year, single term, or a specified time period. Academic year contracts are offered for nine months on an academic calendar. A term contract may be for a Fall, Spring, or Summer Term. (The length of a Summer Term appointment is specified in the contract and varies according to program need.) Contracts may be offered outside of the definitions of an academic year or term, particularly contracts offered by non-academic units and contracts funded by grants and external agencies. These awards have start and end dates that are specified in the contract. Some contracts may specify an early start date and an extended end date depending on the requirements of the sponsoring unit.

Graduate assistant contracts specify that assistants are required to perform their duties within the dates specified in the contract, often including the week of final examinations. Sponsoring units may reduce the stipend by the appropriate pro-rated amount if assistants fail to fulfill the terms of their appointment as specified in the contract. Graduate assistant contracts typically do not require performance of duties during periods when the university observes official holidays or university-scheduled breaks including, Fall Break, Semester Break, and Spring Break.

Some sponsoring units may specify however, that performance of duties during official holidays and/or university-scheduled breaks is required. Performance of duties will be required during official holidays and/or university-scheduled breaks only if specified in the contract.

Enrollment Requirements for Maintaining an Assistantship

Fall and spring assistantship appointments require that graduate assistants remain enrolled as degree-seeking students for a minimum of nine semester hours of graduate course work (courses numbered 4750 or above). With prior approval by submission of the Waiver of Policy form with the Graduate School Dean, assistants may substitute required prerequisite undergraduate courses for the graduate courses to remain in compliance with assistantship enrollment requirements; however, the student must remain enrolled as a degree-seeking student for a minimum of nine semester hours. During the Fall and Spring semesters assistants may enroll for a maximum of 16 semester hours. Degree granting programs may require assistants to carry less than the maximum load of 16 semester hours in the Fall or Spring terms. Assistants are advised to consult with degree programs regarding load restrictions. Summer assistantship appointments require that graduate assistants remain enrolled as degree-seeking students for a minimum of three semester hours of graduate course work (courses numbered 4750 or above). With prior approval by submission of the Waiver of Policy form with the Graduate School Dean, assistants may substitute prerequisite undergraduate courses for the graduate courses to remain in compliance with assistantship enrollment requirements; however, the student must remain enrolled as a degree-seeking student for a minimum of three semester hours. During the summer sessions, assistants may enroll for a maximum of 13 semester hours. Degree granting programs may require assistants to carry less than the maximum load of 13 semester hours in the Summer. Assistants are advised to consult with degree programs regarding load restrictions.

Academic Requirements for Maintaining an Assistantship

Graduate Assistants must meet the standards for graduate degree-seeking students as established by the Council on Graduate Studies. Degree requirements include maintenance of a 3.00 cumulative graduate grade point average and retention of degree status in one of the University's graduate degree programs.

Assigned Duty Requirements for Maintaining an Assistantship

Clock hour requirements for an assistantship vary by contract and are specified in the contract. The maximum level of an appointment is 18 clock hours of assigned duties each week for assistants hired by academic graduate programs. Assistants hired by other university-sponsored hiring units are limited to 19 clock hours per week.

The unit has full authority to require the full number of hours each week specified in the contract and should require assistants to document completion of clock hours each week. Sponsoring units may not require assistants to work beyond the maximum number of hours in the contract.

Assistants should be physically present performing their assigned duties while under contract. Hours required to perform duties may not be “accumulated” in order to make up for past weeks or in anticipation of future weeks. Sponsoring units may not require assistants to work beyond the maximum level specified in the contract for a specified week because fewer hours were assigned during a prior week or because fewer hours are anticipated in a future week. Contracts held in the summer term are limited to 15 clock hours per week.

Performance of Duties

Assistants are required to perform their teaching, research, and service duties to the satisfaction of the sponsoring unit. Assistants are encouraged to ask sponsoring units for the following support of duties is satisfactory:

- A place to perform assigned duties.
- A supervisor or advisor who will supervise/advise the assistant.
- A list of duties or job description with performance expectations.
- An orientation and/or regular meetings to receive and discuss feedback regarding the assistant’s acceptable or unacceptable performance of duties.
- A list of suggestions for improving performance in order to meet the expectations of the sponsoring unit.

If a supervisor/advisor determines that an assistant is unable to perform assigned duties to the satisfaction of the employing unit, the supervisor, in consultation with the Graduate School Dean, must establish a plan that provides the assistant with guidance to improve performance of duties with reasonable time lines to achieve the improvements. If the assistant remains unable to perform the assigned duties as determined by the guidelines and dates outlined in the plan, the sponsoring unit may terminate the assistant’s contract.

Assistantships and Fellowships do not accrue sick leave or emergency leave benefits. Assistants who are ill should contact the supervisor of the sponsoring unit to report the illness. A supervisor may require the candidate to document evidence of the illness. Assistants who must be absent from their assistantship duties during the contract period for emergencies should inform the supervisor of the emergency and absence from duties.

Supervisors may ask assistants to document emergencies requiring absence from duties. When the supervisor determines that the number of absences due to illness or emergencies are sufficient to prevent the assistant from completing assigned duties during the contract period, the supervisor may develop a duties completion plan.

The plan should be developed in collaboration with the assistant and specify the additional days beyond the assistant's contract that are required to complete the assigned duties.

Some agency assistantships provide sick days and assistants are advised to review the provisions with the coordinator at the time of appointment.

Professional Conduct and Internal Governing Policies

Graduate assistants are required to meet the standards for professional conduct and be in compliance with such standards as specified in the Eastern Illinois University Student Conduct Code.

Graduate assistants are advised to review and understand the University Policy on Diversity, Nondiscrimination and Affirmative Action (IGP 174) which applies to all university employees and states that discrimination based upon race, color, sex, religion, age, national origin, ancestry, marital status, disability, Vietnam War veteran status, or any other basis of discrimination precluded by federal and state statutes, is strictly prohibited.

Graduate Assistants are advised to review the university policy on Sexual Harassment (IGP 175) which applies to all university employees and states that it is the policy of Eastern Illinois University that sexual harassment of one member of the campus community by another will not be tolerated. Assistants may review the Internal Governing Policies by visiting the University's web site at www.eiu.edu/~president/IGP/index.html or by viewing the copy on reserve at Booth Library.

Ethics Training

Assistants are required by state mandate to complete Ethics Training as specified in the State Official and Employees Ethics Act. Ethics training is available at <http://www.eiu.edu/~ethics>. Assistants must provide a copy of the Certificate of Completion to the supervisor during the first term of appointment.

Policy on Resignation after Initiating Duties

Occasionally assistants resign from their appointments after the contract start date. Assistants who resign prior to the mid-term date published in the Academic Calendar, but who remain enrolled for courses, will be re-billed for tuition for that semester. Assistants who resign after the mid-term date published in the Academic Calendar but who remain enrolled for courses, will not be billed for tuition for that semester.

A graduate assistant resigning after the beginning report date, but prior to the completion of the contract period will be paid only for that time served, as certified by the supervisor. Stipend payments are terminated the day of resignation.

Policy on Resignation or Termination

Assistantship contracts are terminated by the Graduate School under the following conditions:

- During the semester the assistant did not remain enrolled in nine semester hours of course work during the Fall and Spring Terms or three semester hours during the Summer Term.
- At the end of the term the assistant failed to meet the 3.00 graduate cumulative GPA requirement.

Hiring units may request that an assistantship contract be terminated under the following conditions:

- The assistant cannot perform the assigned duties to the satisfaction of the sponsoring unit after an appropriate plan and time line for duties has been established
- The assistant violated the terms specified in the Student Conduct Code, available from the Office of Student Accountability and Support
- The assistant violated Internal Governing Policies or Ethics Act
- The assistant violated other non-specified appointment requirements

Tuition Waiver Scholarship Benefits

Tuition waiver scholarships are provided in recognition of the graduate assistant's academic accomplishments. The scholarships are provided as part of the financial aid package, but they are not related to services.

Graduate assistants who are in compliance with enrollment in nine to 16 semester hours of graduate course work or approved prerequisites during the fall/spring terms and three to 13 semester hours of graduate course work or approved prerequisites during the summer term will receive a full tuition waiver scholarship unless specified in the contract.

Tuition Waiver Scholarship Non-Covered Expenses

Tuition waiver scholarships may not be applied to any fees. Tuition waiver scholarships may not be applied to audited courses, sponsored-credit courses, and study abroad courses.

Tuition waiver scholarships may not be applied to some courses offered through the School of Extended Learning or to any Study Abroad course. To verify the application of a tuition waiver scholarship, candidates must check the "Attribute Type" section in the published Course Schedule to determine the status of the course. Courses not covered by an assistantship tuition waiver scholarship will be identified by the statement "Waivers May Not Be Used" in the Attributes Type category. Candidates who enroll for these courses will be billed tuition.

Graduate students who have held assistantship contracts or Fellowship contracts for at least four months immediately preceding a Summer Term or who have signed a graduate assistant contract for Fall Semester may apply for a summer term tuition waiver scholarship.

Summer tuition waiver scholarships require that students remain enrolled for a minimum of three semester hours and no more than 13 semester hours in graduate level course work. Coursework fulfilling approved prerequisites for the graduate program is eligible for the tuition waiver scholarship. Only one summer tuition waiver scholarship per 9-month graduate assistant contract may be claimed. The summer tuition waiver application can be found on the D2L orientation or the Graduate School web site and must be submitted by the student one month prior to the end of the spring semester.

Stipends

University regulations require that stipend payments be made only after completion of assigned duties. Monthly stipends may vary according to the terms specified in the contract. In return for the stipend, the assistant satisfactorily performs the duties assigned by the sponsoring unit.

All stipends are subject to various payroll tax deductions. Graduate assistants enrolled in less than 6 semester hours are also subject to FICA tax which is currently at 7.65%. This generally affects graduate assistants employed during summer term as that is the only term where graduate assistants are allowed to be enrolled in less than 9 hours (with the minimum of 3 hours) to be eligible for the assistantship.

Student Health Insurance

Enrollment in the Student Insurance Plan is automatic for graduate assistants under contract to the University. The Student Insurance Fee will be included on their tuition and fee bill each term they are under contract. Coverage dates for each term are provided on the Student Insurance website www.eiu.edu/studentinsurance.

Payroll Process

Assistantship appointments offered through Eastern Illinois University provide stipends on the last working day of the month except for December when payment will be made on the first working day of January. If a contract start date begins the 16th of the month or later the stipend payment will be made the last day of the following month. Graduate assistants appointed through the university are required to enroll in the Electronic Funds Transfer (Direct Deposit) program to receive stipend payments. Necessary forms are available through the Graduate School Orientation and are also available in the Payroll Office.

Assistantship appointments offered through a private agency may be paid according to the time table established by the agency. Assistants should consult with the Graduate Assistant Manager for information on these payroll plans.

Financial Aid

Graduate Assistants may be eligible for other forms of financial aid and applicants should access information regarding additional aid from the Office of Financial Aid. Typical processes for financial aid application require completion of the FAFSA or Free Application for Federal Student Aid form. Guidelines are specified at the web site and include filing as an independent using the prior year's tax return. Any change in enrolled credit hours must be reported to the Office of Financial Aid in order to adjust the benefit of the tuition waiver scholarship appropriately.

Billing and Payment of Fees

The tuition waiver benefit will be applied only to tuition charges. Graduate assistants will be billed all fees. The fees must be paid by the date specified on the account or late charges will be assessed. Occasionally, assistants may reduce enrollment hours after a tuition waiver benefit has been applied to an account. In these cases, waiver benefits may temporarily exceed billing charges until the waiver benefit is reduced to match the student's actual course enrollment.

Assistants must pay their fees by the date specified on the account because the tuition waiver benefit will be adjusted to match the tuition payments later in the billing cycle. If the fees have not been paid a late fee will be assessed.

Supplemental Contracts

Graduate assistants are limited to one on-campus contract per semester with the exception of a supplemental contract. Graduate assistants may be considered for supplemental non-recurring contracts for an assignment that is related to a specific area of expertise. The combined hours of duties required for the assistantship and the supplemental contract must remain at or below an average of 20 clock hours per week and the supplemental duties may not be part of the assistant's regularly assigned assistantship duties. Supplemental Contract Approval Forms are available at the Graduate Assistantship web site.

To initiate a contract, the administrator of the program or office offering a supplemental assistantship contract forwards the contract to the assistant's primary sponsoring unit for approval. The primary sponsoring unit forwards the contract to the Graduate School. Requests for supplemental contracts must be approved with required signatures prior to performance of the duties. Requests for approval and compensation after the assignment is completed will not be approved. Agents or supervisors are responsible for ensuring completion of paperwork prior to completion of duties. Students must meet the following criteria to be eligible for a supplemental contract:

- The assignment is not part of the assistant's assigned duties: Graduate assistants hold contracts for academic terms or academic years and earn a stipend and tuition waiver in compensation for assigned teaching, research, or university service that directly supports the mission of the University.

- Supplemental contracts compensate assistants for duties that are not part of the assistant's regularly assigned duties. For example, an assistant in the music department may hold an assistantship to provide teaching assistance for several courses in the music department. A supplemental contract may be offered to compensate this assistant to play the piano at a University scheduled event. Providing music is not part of the assistant's regularly assigned duties; therefore, a supplemental contract may be offered.
- The supplemental assignment is related to the assistant's specialized area of expertise: Frequently, graduate assistants have unique expertise that may be needed by a department/unit for a special project. Unique expertise may be related to computer competencies, competencies in the arts, teaching experience, business knowledge, or other specialized skills related to the assistant's professional training and background. Supplemental contracts may be offered to compensate the assistant for an assignment associated with this expertise.
- The assignment is non-recurring: Supplemental assistant contracts are for duties associated with non-recurring demand such as an offer to provide music at campus events or an offer to provide a workshop for technology applications. Supplemental contracts are not approved for general non-specialized weekly duties associated with recurring student employment. Those positions are for students who do not hold assistantships.
- The combined supplemental contract and regular assistantship hours remain at or below 20 hours per week as an average over the academic semester: Assistantship contracts are normally for 18 to 19 clock hours per week. A student who holds an 18 hour per week assistantship and is offered a supplemental contract to provide 2 four-hour workshops during the 15 week Fall term remains in compliance because the 8 hours averaged over the 15 weeks insures that the assistant's weekly average remains at or below 20 hours per week.
- The contract is approved prior to completion of the assignment: Supplemental contracting and payment are available only with prior approval. Verbal promises for payment without prior approval will not be honored. University staff who make offers but fail to secure prior approval are responsible for any promises of payment. Supplemental contracts are paid only through payroll.
- The contract is approved by the Primary Sponsoring Unit and the Graduate Dean: Primary sponsoring units must support any supplemental contracts because an assistant's first responsibility is to the primary sponsoring unit. The Graduate Dean will serve as the final authority for determining if the supplemental contract meets the criteria specified for supplemental appointments of graduate assistants.

Guidelines for a Successful Appointment

Time management is essential to a successful assistantship. Assistants are expected to maintain their studies while simultaneously performing their assistantship duties to the satisfaction of the supervisor in the sponsoring unit. Providing the supervisor with a schedule of time when available to execute duties and providing some flexible time to perform

Assistants are encouraged to engage in timely resolution of concerns. When a supervisor calls a concern to the assistant's attention, assistants are urged to meet with the supervisor and outline a resolution to the concern with an appropriate time line. In the event that a concern is not satisfactorily resolved with the supervisor, an assistant should seek the assistance of the appropriate Graduate Coordinator. Issues unresolved by the Coordinator should be called to the attention of the Department Chair. The final step in resolution of a concern is to seek the assistance of the Graduate Dean.

The university provides a variety of resources to support all students. Resources include but are not limited to the Civil Rights and Diversity, University Health and Counseling Services, Women's Resource Center, Center for Gender and Sexual Diversity, Writing Center, and Student Recreation Center. Assistants are urged to use those resources that will help them successfully manage their assistantship and academic responsibilities.

Completion of Appointment and Assessment Program

Upon completion of the contract, graduate assistants must comply with all required clearance procedures mandated by the sponsoring unit.

For questions regarding:

Graduate admissions, graduate policies and graduation
Contact the Graduate School581-2220

Assistantship contracts, regulations and requirements
Contact Graduate Assistantship Manager581-7490

International student concerns
Contact the Office of International Students & Scholars581-2321

Tax issues and federal payroll requirements
Contact Payroll 581-5510

The Graduate School
600 Lincoln Avenue
1201 Blair Hall
Charleston, Illinois 61920
217.581.2220
www.eiu.edu/graduate